Solar cooking – A transformative approach to advancing the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals

Wednesday, 8 July 2020

12:00 pm - 1:30 pm New York Time (EDT)

RSVP to our virtual event here

Solar Cookers International (SCI) and the Public-Private Alliance Foundation (PPAF) will co-sponsor a Side Event at the United Nation's High-level Political Forum 2020. Normally the HLPF is held in-person in New York, with approximately 2,000 registered participants, approximately 125 heads of states, ministers and high-level officials. This year, everyone can register and participate online.

We will showcase solar cooking as a transformative measure in realizing the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. The power of the sun can be harnessed for clean and sustainable cooking.

Discussion and evidence will include:

1. how solar cooking improves human and environmental health,
2. how it has been integrated into a clean-cooking course at the Université Notre Dame d'Haiti - Hinche, and into work with the Art Creation Foundation for Children in Jacmel, and
3. how it can make an important contribution during the global crisis of COVID-19.

Speakers will include Caitlyn Hughes, MA, (Executive Director, SCI), Alan Bigelow, PhD, (Science Director and Main Representative of SCI to the UN), David Stillman, PhD, (Executive Director, PPAF) and Rose Bazile, RN, MSN, (SCI Advisor and PPAF Consultant).
