Happy Holidays!

By David Stillman - PPAF Executive Director

I am writing to thank all of you who have contributed to PPAF's work in the past year and who continue to place our programs and people in your thoughts and prayers. Please join us in whatever way you can and give your heartfelt support to PPAF and the solar and biogas work of our Haitian and international colleagues.

We have recently started a new initiative in that work -- to support the construction and testing of locally-made rather than imported solar cookers. The first results are now available from colleagues in two towns. Please see the attached sets of photos for cooking rice with spinach, in one pot in Hinche and in three pots in Jacmel.

We look for more from our friends as the new year begins, and will keep you posted!
